Volunteer Registration Now Open for 29th Annual Coastal Cleanup Day on Sept 21st
San Diego's largest environmental volunteer event shows there's more to protecting the coast than just beach cleanups

San Diego County, CA – Online volunteer registration is now open for Coastal Cleanup Day 2013, the largest single-day volunteer event in San Diego dedicated to protecting and preserving our local environment. The event, scheduled for Saturday, September 21, 2013, is truly a partnership that involves everyone in the San Diego community. Volunteers of all ages are needed from 9:00am to 12noon at more than 90 coastal and inland sites to help preserve the local environment by cleaning up these outdoor areas. Interested volunteers can sign up for the cleanup online at: www.CleanupDay.org.

Coordinated locally by environmental nonprofit I Love A Clean San Diego (ILACSD), Coastal Cleanup Day is part of the statewide California Coastal Cleanup Day and International Coastal Cleanup, which has included over 150 countries and 9 million volunteers since its inception more than 25 years ago. Locally, CCD successfully brings together roughly 8,000 volunteers, local businesses, community organizations, and government agencies, all working towards the same goal: a cleaner and healthier San Diego. Major support for this year's effort has been provided by San Diego Gas & Electric, who continue to engage the largest corporate volunteer team for this annual event.

Each year, hundreds of tons of garbage end up on the beaches and in our waterways after travelling through San Diego's vast watershed system. Best known for its beach cleanup sites, Coastal Cleanup Day reaches far beyond the beach with 63% of sites located along the rivers, creeks, canyons and urban areas throughout San Diego County. Cleaning up these inland sites prevents trash from ever reaching the coast, stopping pollution at the source.

In 2012, 9,000+ volunteers (7,200 in San Diego County and 2,000 in Tijuana) removed nearly 167,000 pounds of trash and recyclables from San Diego County's 11 watersheds. The removal of trash is not the only focus of this annual event; other activities include storm drain stenciling, invasive plant removal, native planting and graffiti removal. On September 21st, I Love A Clean San Diego encourages all San Diegans to come together for this important event to improve the health of our environment and preserve the San Diego way of life for future generations. Register today at www.CleanupDay.org.
